The Bike Lab may provide explanations or answer questions that bike owners may have on how to fix their bikes and may lend tools to assist in performing basic repairs. The Bike Lab reserves the right in their absolute discretion to withhold any of the services available and to refer bike owners to commercial bike repair shops.

It is understood and agreed by all who utilize this service that:

- the tools and equipment are for the benefit of all and therefore are to be treated with respect and care and returned immediately on completion of the use so others may benefit.
- disrespectful conduct or abuse or failure to treat the tools with respect and care or follow instruction in their proper use and to immediately return the tools shall result in immediate termination of the privileges available and in the most serious of incidents to involvement of campus security.
- failure to follow instructions or to complete a repair properly are the Participant's responsibility and it is understood the Bike Lab and volunteers have no responsibility whatsoever to the Participant.
